A FOREWORD

There are two general methods employed by collectors of antique furniture. The first method is that of obtaining an example of each known variety and variation. The second method is that of furnishing a house. Had Mr. Perry employed the first method he would have had no pieces to dispose of, but his method has been to furnish a very beautiful colonial house with furniture of its period. Consequently when he purchased the Canfield collection he was confronted with the necessity of making a choice, and this choice did not so much involve the question of relative merit as it did that of arrangement and space. For this reason the pieces offered for sale from the Perry and Canfield collections do not represent discards, for many are as good as those which have taken their places.

LUKE VINCENT LOCKWOOD.

CONDITIONS OF SALE

1. Any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer, if, in his judgment, such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Delivery of any purchase will be made only at the American Art Galleries, or other place of sale, as the case may be, and only on presenting the bill of purchase.

Delivery may be made, at the discretion of the Association, of any purchase during the session of the sale at which it was sold.

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert, who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph or telephone, will be faithfully attended to without charge or commission. Any purchase so made will be subject to the above Conditions of Sale, which cannot in any manner be modified. The Association, however, in the event of making a purchase of a lot consisting of one or more books for a purchaser who has not, through himself or his agent, been present at the exhibition or sale, will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale, and the purchase money will be returned, if the lot in any material manner differs from its catalogue description.

Orders for execution by the Association should be written and given with such plainness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of art, the bid per volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit should be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

Priced copies of the catalogue of any sale, or any session thereof, will be furnished by the Association at a reasonable charge.

HEPPLEWHITE WINE COOLER AND PEDESTAL

Formed as a classic vase-shaped urn with stepped base on an octagonal cupboard pedestal. The urn is enriched as to the foot with a band of pointed leaf carving and as to the stem with carved lotus leaves, and a projecting beaded ring. The lower part of the body is carved with lotus leaves, the upper part with a band of carved guilloche ornamentation interrupted by ram's heads from which depend festoons of husk pattern and oval portrait medallions. The cover is pinnaced and terminates in a pineapple finial. The pedestal, around the top of which is a band of satinwood inlay, has a deep frieze of applied carving in a design of Chimerae with looped and scrolled bodies chained to central vases supported on acanthus-leaf brackets, while the sides are decorated with carved sprays of roses and leaves springing diagonally from the angles and carved arabesque designs of acanthus scrollings, festoons of draperies and pendants of husk pattern. The chamfered angles are carved with conventionalized Cupid's quivers ornamented with husk pattern pendants and scrolled acanthus leaves. The base is molded. The pedestal is fitted as a cellaret with hinged door at one side; the urn, with removable cover, is lead-lined.

Height of urn, 3 feet; height of pedestal, 2 feet 1 inch; width of pedestal, 1 foot 10 inches.

NOTE: Though figured by Hepplewhite in his "Guide" (1788), this was undoubtedly made by him to order after a design furnished by the famous architects the brothers Adam, of whom he was the favorite cabinet-maker.

At the base are scrolled and acanthus-leaf finial-shaped ornamentations and, in front, a pull-out shelf with looped drop-handle of brass. On four cabriole legs with scroll and acanthus-leaf edged brackets, carved acanthus-leaf scrollings at the knees and scrolled pedestal feet.

*Height, 1 foot 11 inches;
width and depth, 11
inches.*

*From the MARSDEN J. PERRY
Collections.*

NOTE: Though termed by Chippendale and his contemporaries "tea-kettle stands," these articles of furniture were in reality used for the holding of what we should nowadays call hot-water urns. The tea-pot stood on the "pull-out" shelf directly under the tap of the urn, to accommodate which an opening was made in the front of the stand. Square urns of Sheffield plated ware made to fit these stands are occasionally met with. A stand such as this is figured in the "Director" (3d Edition) on Plate LV, and several of similar character appear on Plate XIV of Ince and Mayhew's "Household Furniture" (circa 1770).

CHIPPENDALE MAHOGANY DOUBLE CHEST OF DRAWERS (Middle Period)

Rectangular shape, divided into two portions. The upper portion, which is finished with a dented cornice whose members are carved in acanthus-leaf and egg and dart patterns, with a frieze decorated with sunken carving of fretwork character in one of Chippendale's so-called "Gothic" patterns and with chamfered angles, decorated with sunken carving of a similar character and design, is fitted with three long and two small drawers. The lower portion, which is finished with a projecting rounded rim carved in a water-leaf design, below which is a pull-out shelf with carved front edge, and with a base molding carved in a water-leaf design, is fitted with three long drawers. The whole stands on four shaped bracket feet, the front of one of which is carved with C scrolls and acanthus leaves. The original brass swinging loop handles, of rococo design, have been regilt.

Height, 6 feet 1 inch; width, 3 feet 8 inches; depth, 1 foot 9 inches.

NOTE: The permanent popularity of this particular article of furniture is shown by the fact that one exactly similar to this in general design, but somewhat plainer as to detail, appears in Chippendale's "Director" (1st Edition of 1754) and is repeated, thirty years later, in Hepplewhite's "Guide" (1st Edition of 1788).

Of oblong form. The back and two ends are enclosed by high panels upholstered on both sides, and having shaped and molded top-rails, the front by a low shaped mahogany front-piece with an applied carving of festooned and knotted draperies, looped ribbons and pendent tassels. The four posts are of columnar design, with acanthus-leaf carvings at the lower portions, shafts decorated with flutings and astragals, square dies carved with acanthus-leaf rosettes, round tapering fluted legs and carved pine-apple finials. From the finials rise four curved iron rods which support a domed canopy top rising from a molded octagonal mahogany cornice, carved with bands of bead and roll, acanthus-leaf and water-leaf ornamentation, and terminating in a large carved pine-apple finial. Upholstery and hangings, including two upholstered bolsters, are of yellow and white silk brocade with a satin ground.

Height, 9 feet 6 inches; length, 6 feet 4 inches; width, 5 feet.

NOTE: A bed almost precisely similar to this is illustrated in Volume II of Sheraton's "The Cabinet-maker and Upholsterer's Drawing Book" (1794) on Plate 51, and another, similar in all but the shape, on Plate 40. One of these is termed a "Sofa Bed," the other an "Alcove Bed." On page 379 Sheraton informs us that both the Alcove and Sofa Bed "require steps" and adds that "the learned inform us that the word alcove is from the Arabic elcauf, which means a cabinet or sleeping place."
